Planning Increased Production From Alberta White Spruce

The Atlas Lumber Company Limited, an affiliated company to the Revelstoke Sawmill Co. Ltd., is planning a substantial production of lumber for the approaching season at their mills near Rocky Mountain House, Alberta.

As an indication of the urgency of a greater production of lumber the Dominion Government has declared the production of lumber an essential War Industry as at September 1, 1942.

New Portable Mill

In order to co-operate with the urgent request of the Timber Control Board of Canada, Department of Munitions & Supply, Ottawa, the Company have just purchased a new sawmill with a capacity of 1,000,000 ft. per month running two shifts. This mill is a portable and will operate right in the timber and is mounted on huge skids and can be moved from place to place by a Caterpillar Tractor so as to avoid hauling or skidding logs more than a quarter of a mile.

The stationary mill will have a capacity of 1,200,000 ft. per month and is now being erected in a new block of timber where a new prefabricated camp unit will be erected. These buildings will be insulated against cold weather and will be lighted by electricity.

This sawmill has a ball-bearing saw, husk, a ball-bearing sawdust disposal exhaustor, live rolls to the edge and to the green chain where the lumber will be trimmed and sorted, then piled on stands, the front of which is collapsible and when the roller loaded truck backs against it, the load rolls on the truck platform. The lumber is then hauled to the assembly yard at Rocky Mountain House where it is piled to dry and will be ready for further manufacturing and shipping early in May.

The Company owns a modern planning mill at Rocky Mountain House and the equipment consists of two fast feed Yates planers, a ball-bearing Yates V-14 Band Resaw, Trimmers, Cut-off Saws, etc. This plant is served by the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways.

New Logging System

A new system of logging will be in operation this fall for the stationary mill. Tree lengths will be hauled to the mill by the Diesel Caterpillar Tractors and bucked up in long lengths on the log deck. This method will obviate the necessity of skidding, decking and loading logs on trucks and hauling to the mill, thus saving gasoline and time.

The Company will also finance and provide standing timber for four portable mill operators and it is hoped to have available for shipment to the Timber Control Board for defense work, and to the Companies' Yards on the Prairies, a minimum of 20,000,000 ft. of Western White Spruce lumber.

The Company expects to employ 200 men throughout the winter and its contractors will employ an additional 200 men.

Mr. & Mrs. Gregory Mark Golden Wedding

Monday, September 21st, marked fifty years of married life for Mr. and Mrs. Samuel F. Gregory, who celebrated their golden wedding at their home, 761 Castleman road.

At a reception Monday afternoon and evening friends from far and near called to offer congratulations, over one hundred guests signing the bride's book. Mr. and Mrs. Gregory were also the recipients of numerous phone calls, letters, telegrams and cards from friends at Fort Albert, Kimberley and Los Angeles. Two arm chairs and a floor lamp were the gifts of friends of the community, many other gifts and flowers came from other friends.

Mrs. Gregory (nee Jessie Elizabeth Wells) is the daughter of the late C. Bird Wells and Esther Garrett, whose families crossed the plains from the south with ox teams in 1894-95, finally making their home near Corvallis, Ore., where Mrs. Gregory was born. Mr. Gregory, also of pioneer stock, was born at Roseman, Montana. Both attended Philomath college, were married at Corvallis and made their first home at Salem.

In 1896 they moved to Vancouver making their home at Marpole, then an unnamed logging timber tract. Mr. Gregory fished in the Fraser and later went on the "Charger" plying from Vancouver to Victoria during the Klondike gold rush.

They left Vancouver in 1908 to make their home at Westcliffe, N.W.T., where hardships which only the pioneer knows, were theirs during those early years. Twenty years ago they returned to British Columbia and settled where they now reside.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Gregory are indefatigable workers for the Methodist-United church and its organizations, Knights of Pythias, D.O.K.E. and the Masonic Lodge.

Mrs. Gregory, a charter member of the Women's Institute at Wainwright, Alta., was recently honored by Upper Camp River W.I. by the presentation of a Federated pin.

There are three daughters of this marriage. They are: Belle, Mrs. Alec Plaster, Wainwright, Alta.; Edna, Mrs. Ed Foster, Longview, Wash.; and Claire, Mrs. Paul Briffon, Great Central, V.I. There are also seven grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Their many friends and acquaintances join in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Gregory many more years of happiness.

Curriers Arrange Season's Activities

Some 23 ardent and anxious curriers gathered at the Town Hall on Friday evening last to get set for a real season of curling. Included in those present were several members of the construction company in the park, with a promise of an additional number of those later on. We believe that there is a promise of a rink from Fabry this season.

Due to the fact that the club has no funds on hand, and as there still are a number owing for last year, a motion was passed that "All delinquent members must pay their last year dues in full before being allowed to play."

The fees for this year were set as follows—Adults, $2.00, students, $1.00—the whole fee MUST be paid before commencement of curling.

It was decided to increase the present executive of president, vice-president and secretary-treasurer, by adding two more to this body, and the names of J. G. Clark and L. W. Smith were the new men appointed.

Messrs. J. G. Clark, J. G. Davidson and L. W. Baxter were appointed as a membership committee, and any person wishing to curl or to enter a rink should contact any of these.

It was decided that no arrangements be made with the ladies club for evening curling, until the full number of men's rinks are formed.

After thorough discussion it was decided that an open bonspiel be held this season, and that the dates for same be set for January 10th, 20th, and 27th, 1943, and that all prizes be added in War Savings Certificates and Stamps.

New Appointments On Hospital Staff

Scrap Campaign Brings Words of Appreciation

OTTAWA—Thanks largely to the people of Western Canada, the production of steel in this country has not thus far slowed down because of lack of scrap, the Munitions and Supply Department said today.

To the thousands of westerners responsible for the success of the recent scrap campaign on the Prairies, Steel Controller F. B. Kilbourn has written an open letter of appreciation. It reads:

"The result of the western Scrap Campaign recently launched in the Prairie Provinces with the generous assistance of the various elevator companies have been most encouraging and productive."

"I realize well that such success could only have been achieved through the efforts and sacrifices of many thousands of Western farmers implement dealers, and voluntary salvagers corps and committees, who co-operated with the various elevator agents in this undertaking."

"To thank the tireless workers for their valuable help, through the medium of this letter, seems an inadequate acknowledgment of a great service. You may, however, take pride in the thought that you, and others with you, have been responsible for the continued production of steel in our mills, and for the steady flow of arms to United Nations."

"Canada's men in the armed forces and the merchant marine look to you for a continuation of your efforts during this coming year."

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Wainwright Municipal Hospital District No. 17 was held at the hospital November 14th, 1942.

Trustees present were—Chairman O. J. Gould, and Mrs. H. Washburn, Mr. J. D. Collette Mr. D. Gardiner and Mr. L. Oxy.

Moved by Trustee Oxy—That the minutes of the last regular meeting be adopted—Carried.

The resignation of Miss R. Brecheers was presented and on motion of Trustee Gardiner was accepted to take effect Nov. 19th, and a letter of recommendation be given—Carried.

Moved by Trustee Mrs. Washburn that Mr. H. McChrystal be paid the sum of four dollars and fifteen cents ($4.15), this being an adjustment of September cream account—Carried.

Mrs. Washburn's report for the month of October was as follows:—

Patients admitted	49
Patients discharged	45
Classification of patients admitted:
Surgical	11
Medical	15
Obstetrical	8
Infants born	5
Total Hospital Days	498

Nursing Staff—Miss Dyer, R.N.; Miss Shuck, R.N.; and Miss Stewart, R.N. (permanent); Mrs. Sellers, R.N. (relier).

Kitchen Staff—Miss M. Carrell, Cook; Miss N. Walker, Steward.

Moved by Trustee Mrs. Washburn—That the Master's report be accepted—Carried.

Report of the Finance Committee was presented and on motion of Trustee Gardiner the report was accepted—Carried.

Moved by Trustee Oxy—That in future the following rates will be effective for Tonsil Clinics held at the hospital:

Ratepayer: no charge; Non-ratepayer: rate per hospital day, no charge; Operating room fee, 50% reduction—Carried.

Moved by Trustee Mrs. Washburn—That accounts amounting to $1644.23 be accepted and cheques issued—Carried.

Moved by Trustee Gardiner—That the meeting adjourn, the next regular meeting to be held Dec. 12th 1942

Teachers Sub-Local Hold Monthly Meeting

The teachers of the Edgerton sub-local held their November meeting on Saturday, November 7th at the Edgerton School. Seven teachers were present.

Many things of interest to the teachers were discussed. It was decided to hold the winter meetings in town, the next to be on Saturday, December 5th, at 2:00 p.m. Mrs. Belk is to lead in a discussion on "Children's Literature," and C. Welsh on the "Fruits of Children Entering the High School."

The possibility of getting some motion pictures from the Dept. of Extension was discussed. The secretary was instructed to get some information on it for the next meeting.

There followed a very lively discussion led by Cleo Windum on "Language in the School."

H. Inglis Recommends Deeper Oil Drilling

Mr. Henry M. Inglis, Vancouver mining engineer, who has been making a sub-surface geological survey of the Battleville anticline northeast of Wainwright for the past eight months, left for the coast last week to spend the winter at his home there.

In an interview before leaving, Mr. Inglis pointed out that the new structure surveyed presents an excellent opportunity to provide Canada with large quantities of a good grade of crude oil.

The crest of this large anticline, which runs in a north-west-south-eastly direction passes some miles east of town, and is over 200-feet (structurally) higher than the original Wainwright field.

Gas is known to occur near the top of the fold, as the Battleville No. 1 well, which was drilled some years ago was completed as a heavy gas well and is still capped.

Mr. Inglis stated that in his opinion it would be strange indeed if wells drilled below this known gas horizon and the crude oil zone of the oil field do not provide an excellent grade of oil in guaranteed commercial quantities.

Mr. Inglis is expected to return to this district to continue his studies and possibilities of the new field in the spring.

It is learned that the property known as the old Watson house on Fourth avenue east has changed hands and is likely to be altered to provide much needed rooming accommodation.

Truck Riders Harvest End

Permission for harvesters to ride in trucks, came to an end on November 15th, according to word received by George A. Campbell, services officer truck control, Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

Late harvest and the unusually heavy crops in the prairie provinces caused extension of the period during which harvesters might ride from farm to farm to assist with harvesting operations.

Harvesters and farmers are now reminded that after November 15th, harvest help may no longer be transported by truck.

Notice to Proprietary Electors M. D. of WAINWRIGHT No. 392

Take notice that By-Law No. 13 being a By-law for the purpose of restraining Domestic Animals from running at large in certain areas of our Municipal District has received its final and third reading. It will come into force on November 26th, 1942.

This notice is to advise that the Council will be prepared to consider an amendment to this By-Law for any area not less than a full Township, on receipt of a petition signed by at least sixty percent of the Proprietary Electors of such area. This will apply to the area coming under the provisions of the said By-Law and also to the area which is exempt from the said By-Law.

Moved by Strachan—That the Secretary advise Mr. C. E. Fenton of Irma Re: his application to lease section 28.45.8.W.M., same had been received and that the Council require the amount of the current taxes for pasture leases—Carried.

Moved by Sutherland—That this Council lease to P. E. Long the S. 1/4 of 5.41.8.W.M. for a term of three years for one-quarter share of crop—Carried.

Moved by Archibald—That this Council lease to Ted Goddard SW. 16.46.5.W.M. for one year as from April 1st, 1943 for one-fourth share of crop, any overyield (due to the Lease) that he be paid $2.00 per acre in the event of sale or redemption before the 1943 crop is harvested—Carried.

Moved by Taylor—That this Council lease to Walter Peterson the "Church house" for a rental of $300.00—Continued on Page Two

Liquor Sale Restrictions Are Now In Effect

Liquor sales were restricted in this province commencing Thursday, Nov. 12th. Individual permit-holders will be allowed to purchase up to a maximum of 40 ounces of liquor per day. This amount will be exclusive of wine and beer purchases.

It was stated by an authority that an individual permit-holder may each day purchase 40 ounces of liquor, plus one gallon of wine, or its equivalent in bottles. Or, in addition to the maximum of 40 ounces in liquor, there might be an additional purchase of beer, or of both beer and wine.

Purpose of the new order is to reduce consumption and to maintain it at a point at which no excesses are indulged in and at the same time insure reasonable supply.

Turn in Coupon Book When Car is Sold

Importance of motorist, upon selling their car, to turn the ration coupon book back to the oil controller's office has been stressed, according to the Alberta Motor Association.

It appears that instances have been discovered where the book was turned over to the new owner of the car, which is strictly in violation of regulations.

The license regulation says: "If title to the said motor vehicle changes or if by reason of a change in the use of the said motor vehicle or for any other reason, the person who obtained this license and ration book becomes disinterested in this license or to the use of the attached ration book, then such person shall forthwith give notice in writing and send this license and ration coupon book to the nearest office of the oil controller for the province in which such person resides."

When this is done, the oil controller's office will immediately issue the ration coupon book for the category in which the new car owner belongs.

It is pointed out that failure to comply with this regulation may result in drastic action for violators. Not only may the new owner be using coupons for a category to which he does not belong, but he may be multiplying efforts at fuel conservation. On the other hand, he might be entitled to a higher category and more fuel, if he allows the coupons laid down in the regulations and obtained a new coupon book in the regular way.

Edmonton Office Handle Civil Service for Alta.

The Civil Service Commission of Alberta recently opened in Edmonton will be a clearing house for appointments in Alberta. C. H. Bland, Ottawa, chairman of the Civil Service Commission, stated last week in the course of an inspection of offices opened throughout western Canada.

Mr. Bland said that the office was opened to expedite the selection of personnel for government offices.

The Edmonton office will be the headquarters for Alberta and all appointments will be made through that office.

This office, he added, will deal only with Alberta applications, and only where the appointments are of a purely local character.

LESS THAN ENOUGH, AND WE LOSE—

"This is as certain as that night follows day. Let Germany and Japan defeat us in the air and we cease to live—as you and I know life. Some of us will die quickly, some slowly and painfully; but life—or what we call life—will be gone forever; for us, for our children and our grandchildren."

"This then, is our opportunity; for our lives—while yet there is time. Let us pour into the production of aircraft every effort of which we are capable."

These words are from an address by Ralph B. Bell, Director General, Aircraft Production Branch, Dept. of Munitions and Supply, on the occasion of the visit of the Lancaster bomber to the Malton Plant of National Steel Corp. Corporation, Limited, where Lancasters will be produced.

Mr. Bell reminded his listeners that "But for one thing—the fact that the Royal Air Force held control of the skies over Britain in that memorable siege by air from the summer of 1940 to the late spring of 1941—instead of today heartily welcoming a single Lancaster we might all be crouched in shuddering helplessness as giant German bombers roared overhead and dumped their terrifying loads of destruction on our homes and factories."

Since it is estimated that it takes eighteen workers behind the line to keep one fighting man in action, Mr. Bell's timely words have a deep significance for all Canadians.

Titled Women of Britain Do Washing & Cooking Now

By Margaret Butcher

(Specially written for the Wainwright Star.)

READING, ENGLAND.—I often sit down and enjoy the Canadian papers sent over to me. Today, as I had my lunch of salad and cheese, I dipped into one, and I was very interested in an article which observed that "men with titles are mostly human." I give you a man read that with curiosity; so here is something for the women. Why not our angle as well? What about women with titles?

You know, a title is very much in the background—with the folk who are used to having one. They don't splash it about; on the contrary, they often call themselves just plain "Mrs." or "Miss". As one woman I know said to me, not long ago: "I generally use 'Mrs.' when I'm staying in hotels or rooms. It's cheaper!"

So you see, they ARE human. Most of them haven't money to burn these days, and the sensible ones don't make any bones about it. Compared with me, of course, they are quite wealthy; but then, I've never had much money—and now we have less than ever! But it's no difference in the real things, I find.

I've just been visiting a dear woman—an old friend—and what did she care when I turned up with a rather shabby suitcase and a pack on my back? Not a bit! But she bears what is called a "courtesy title". As the daughter of an earl she is known as Lady—her first name before her surname. Children of an earl are always addressed in that way. One would not address Lady Emily Brown (let us say) as "Lady Brown", but as "Lady Emily".

Such is this dear, kind soul with whom I have been staying, and can anybody beat her at a real woman's job? Not on your life! She and her husband and little girl, having lost their very nice home through enemy action, are now living in two rooms, with the use of the kitchen. The rooms are large, ones, happily, but I'm sure it takes a lot of courage and grit to get through, in the circumstances. My friend does the cooking and housework, with the help of a charwoman twice a week; and never, never did I enjoy nicer or better cooked meals. The little girl, a lovely thing of nine, with long, beautifully brushed hair and frank, clear eyes, is being trained to help. After all, Lady Emily (as I will call her, though it isn't her name) was taught by her own mother, the Countess, and there was never any nonsense about it.

In their lovely home of girlhood they had to take turns in the kitchen just as they had to learn to sew. Lady Emily's husband, though an elderly man now, is doing important war work in a northern city, and her ladyship and the little girl get up every morning, prepare his breakfast and see that he catches his bus into town. There is no nonsense about that either!

Made Our Own Beds
In the old days when I visited them, there were half a dozen servants. This time we all made our own beds and so on. But we were very happy for it was grand to meet again even in these changed conditions. I sat about and did some more sketching, and they were pleased with the gift of what I had done, for they knew that I cannot buy anybody expensive presents, no matter how I should like to do. She said to me: "You see, my dear, you've given us something one can't just go out and buy. Something real."

One of her other friends, who is the daughter of a marquis and, consequently, an "Honorable", has really lost all her money; but she is keeping house for her brother and working hard on her little allotment. It's all very different from the days when she used to turn up at those parties looking like a million, straight from her country house or her place in London; but she is making the best of things, like so many of these hard-hit and plucky folk. And those of us who have Lady Emily for a real pal know that she is always standing by, ready to do what she can if ever we truly need help in any way. So you see they are human—and the ones I know (with one or two exceptions) more than "mostly". They have been blitzed and battered, but they go on, their one idea being that of "coming out on top."

And there my efforts stand, on the mantelpiece, waiting for the day when somebody, somewhere, can frame them. (You can't get jobs like that done all at once nowadays. Oh, dear no!) She, cut me a delicious lunch to eat in the train, and I have come away with pleasant friendly memories.

Incidentally, she does the washing—even her husband's shirts, she tells me. Laundries, too, are "out". In many places, and such things have to be done at home. In the bank, for safe keeping, she has wonderful jewels. I know, for I used to see her wearing them; and she once lent me a fur wrap which cost six thousand dollars. I remember, in all innocence I wore it for a week in the hotel where we were staying—to the gnawing envy of the other women, no doubt—but, never having worn anything much better than rabbit or mole, I carried it off with the blandness of complete ignorance, and I dare say everybody thought I was a somewhat eccentric female millionaire.

As I handed it back to her I knew on it and remarked: "A nice little bit of fur." (Can you beat it?) Then Lady Emily—who never talks about the price of things, I've noticed, smiled and admitted: "very quietly, oh, it had cost, and why it ought to be 'nice'. I thought quinquity of my bits of food, my cigarette-ends, my generally rather casual treatment, and turned cold. And that is the woman who can wash a shirt, cook a joint, make pudding, paint a door or cover a chair with anybody. Really Old Fashioned!

She belongs to one of those really old English families whose name having a 'de' before it, indicates French origin and the Norman Conquest. They have been titled people for so long that it all sits easily on them. They don't mind what they do as long as they do it well. And with all there is the dignity of competence and assurance; they can know whom they wish and go where they like. If they are fond of you, you don't have to pretend to be 'somebody'. In fact, any such pretence, in rich or poor, is the surest way of antagonizing them and driving them into their shells.

We first met at a party, she and I, and took to each other at once. She is twice my size, which makes the sight of us arm-in-arm, going round the garden, rather amusing. I hear, then, she gave a party of her own and invited me, and ever since that time, now many years ago, we've contrived to be a comfort and help to each other. I remember once telling her that if ever we had a Revolution in this country, with a mob tearing along the street shouting for blue blood—which I don't think very likely—I should have my quite ordinary body in front of me, and shout: "Stop! This woman can cook! And how!"

In that much-bombed city, dear which Lady Emily lives, we prowled round the market, buying food; we went to a 'movie'; we sat together in the passage one night when the fun was booming about overhead. And if I have to be bombed may it be in the company of somebody as calm and self-controlled as that very, very human woman.

So now, ladies, have our side of this title business!

FARM NOTES

ADDITIONAL MOISTURE FOR NEXT YEAR'S GARDEN

For years the open plains area of the three prairie provinces have been noted as a "Next Year Country." This bit of next-year philosophy has served the people well. During drought years it kept up the farmer's spirit of optimism, and in the better years it has caused him to think of the possibility of next year's drought. Its only danger lies in the fact that some farmers may be overly optimistic and forget that, although 1942 has been a wet season, 1943 may be dry, says J. R. McFall, Supervisor, Agricultural Improvement Association, Dominion Experimental Station, Lethbridge, Alberta.

This thought of preparedness for drought applies to the farm garden as well as to the field crop. Now is the time to prepare our garden for 1943. On the average farm garden that is level or slightly sloping, it is advisable to plan for next year by having an early prepared and well kept summer fallow, so as to reduce the weed hazard and store a goodly portion of the summer rains.

But one should go further. Move the farm machinery on to the garden so that it will then be safe from damage by livestock, and will hold the drifting snow. Other forms of snow fences will be equally as effective. This drifted snow must not be allowed to run off during the spring thaw, so contour dykes of either soil or manure will help to hold this water until it can soak into the soil.

A small dugout will supply more water for the garden than one is inclined to imagine. For example, a dugout fifty feet wide by one hundred and nine feet long, holding four feet of water, will supply six inches of water for a garden of one acre in extent. This represents a fair sized garden, and six inches of moisture added to the summer rain will assure sufficient moisture for surprisingly good growth. With the late harvest and the scarcity of farm help, it may not be feasible to do much work of this nature this season, but the first step in any endeavor is the realization that such work must be done sooner or later and to lay plans accordingly.

Too little credit is given to the role of shelter belts in the conservation of soil moisture. During the winter they hold deep drifts of snow; and in the summer they tend to act as a windbreak for the garden, and thus prevent excess evaporation. They also prevent wind damage to the growing plants. If a shelter belt has not already been started around the garden, now is the time to consider planting one. Write the Dominion Forestry Station, Indian Head, Saskatchewan, for full detail about the tree planting policy.

FEEDING OF TURKEYS

FOR MARKET

(Experimental Farm News)
With an urgent demand for meat and poultry products to supply the domestic market, preparing turkeys for market this autumn merits special attention. With an unlimited supply of feed available every market turkey should be put in prime condition before being killed, says A. G. Taylor, who has charge of turkey raising at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

No hard and fast rule can be laid down as to how turkeys should be fattened for market, he says. Birds which carry good feeding usually command a good price. What is required in a good market turkey is plenty of meat with just enough fat to have the meat cook properly.

To accomplish this, turkeys intended for market should be well fed throughout the growing period and particularly during the few weeks prior to marketing. Feeding with nourishing feeds for several weeks should lay down an abundance of fleshing and produce sufficient fat to put the birds in the top market grade.

The common error is to allow the turkeys to seek their feed from range conditions until about three weeks before the marketing day and then to feed heavily for the remaining period. Birds which have been reared on range should not be confined to pens or houses during the conditioning period. If the birds are well fed they will not range far and will take just sufficient exercise for good digestion. Turkeys are fairly hardy and if given protection from winds and inclement weather will fatten well even in cold temperatures.

Two good meals each day is all they will take, unless they are underfed, until the weather gets real cold, then they should be fed three times daily until killing time. Start feeding just what the turkeys will eat up clean before going to roost. Where home grown feeds are being used feed mash in the morning and mixed grain in the evening. A good mash can be made by using a mixture of equal parts ground oats, barley meal, and ground wheat. Ground buckwheat is also good and can be used instead of barley meal if necessary. It is well to add about 10 per cent best meal and about 2 per cent ground charcoal to this mixture. The ground grains should be thoroughly mixed before feeding. This mash can be fed either dry in hoppers or moistened and fed in V-shaped troughs. It is well to moisten the mash at least one hour before feeding time so that it may become swollen before being eaten by the turkeys. To moisten the mash use sour skim milk or water. Make the mash just moist enough that it will be thoroughly soaked but not sloppy. Any mashes not eaten should be removed from the troughs when the turkeys have satisfied themselves.

Water, grit and shell should be before the birds at all times.

TAKING COAL

TO WESTMINSTER

Speaking in a BBC Radio News-reel on the two-day Coal Debate in Parliament, George Darling said "Any member of the Government who talks to boot coal in the House of Commons has to face a very severe test. You see there are forty miners sitting on the benches of the House and every one of them is an expert. They know everything that can be known about the coal industry. A Minister who makes a mistake in his facts, however small, is immediately subjected to a barrage of protests and questions. Major Lloyd George could have no greater praise than this—that at the end of his speech these miners cheered him and gave him their blessing."

SAVE YOUR SCRAP RUBBER

CHINA'S MAN OF ACTION —AND VISION

Formerly adviser to Chiang Kai-Shek, Owen Lattimore recently broadcast in a BBC Radio News-reel, a talk on the great Generalissimo.

The leader of the Chinese people, he said, is a far-sighted statesman. He has taught for years, that the people of China must be not just Chinese citizens, but world citizens; that in defending China they are defending the cause of world democracy and progress.

"After Pearl Harbor" Lattimore explained, "Generalissimo Chiang, on behalf of the Chinese people, offered to President Roosevelt and the American people 'all we have and all we are." At the same time he called on the Chinese people, in inspiring words, for even greater sacrifices, "not for themselves alone, but for their new democratic allies." It was in this spirit that China, hard-pressed herself, offered troops withdrawn from her own threatened fronts to help in the defence of Burma. There could be no finer example of the spirit that binds the United Nations together. The Chinese have a saying: "All with in the four seas are brothers." We might well make this a motto of the United Nations."

The Bomber Press in England

Following the inspection of the Air Force stations, the editors were taken to one of the ports, where they had an opportunity to go over one of the destroyers. They also saw the training of the future heroes of the navy, and a parade of four thousand naval cadets.

While with the Navy, the editors were taken to the "Victory," the flagship of one of England's greatest heroes: Admiral Nelson. This was the ship from which his famous message, "England expects that every man will do his duty," was flashed out as he led the 27 English ships against 33 French and Spanish ships at the battle of Trafalgar in 1805.

This visit to the "Victory" will be described in greater detail in a subsequent article.

Returning to London, conferences and meetings were held with Lord Woolton, Minister of Food; Hon. Arthur Bovan, Minister of Labour; Hon. Herbert Morrison, Minister of National Service; Hon. L.B. Amery, Minister for India; Sir Stafford Cripps, Home Secretary; the Hon. Brendan Bracken, Minister of Information; and a meeting with the Hon. Winston Churchill in his office. It would be impossible to tell much about these meetings in one article so they will be dealt with later.

All these conferences were arranged by the Hon. Vincent Massey, High Commissioner for Canada, who accompanied the editors on these occasions. He was indefatigable in trying to make the visit of the Canadian editors both helpful and interesting.

During the last part of the time in England, vast underground factories were visited and also factories where aeroplanes and other supplies were being made. These visits were also of great interest and the problems of housing, transportation, manpower, etc., were closely studied. These factories in addition to being of huge size, were just as up to date, and efficient as anything that could be found in America.

A study of bomb damage took the party to Bristol, Bath, Portsmouth, and other places which have been badly damaged. The lesson learned from these visits was that early preparation to take care of raids is essential if the damage is to be kept to a minimum. Canadian cities should carefully study the steps which have been found to deal successfully with raid damage.

It was now drawing near to the time that the return journey must be made. While everything could not possibly be seen in the time allotted, yet a representative cross section had been seen of the Canadian Army, Air Force, Navy, the British Industrial effort, Civilian Defence, and so on.

Before leaving England, the editors had another opportunity of seeing General McNaughton, who again received them in a most cordial manner and freely answered all their questions.

But although the government was prepared to bring the Canadians back home, and the editors were ready to go, nature stepped in and ruled otherwise. Unfavorable weather prevented a take-off, and there was a week's delay in which each member of the party was left to explore what ever was of greatest interest to him.

During this week some of the editors visited many of the most interesting spots in England, including Wales, Bristol, and other places, while others visited such places as Stratford-on-Avon, Cardiff, Wales, Salisbury, Gloucester, etc.

But the best of times came to an end, and early one morning they were off on their way home. First, automobile took them to the station, then a train carried members of the party to the embarking point and motor launches took them to the plane which conveyed them to Ireland.

After a stop of a few hours only in Ireland, they boarded the transatlantic flying boat and in a short time they were over the Atlantic. The return journey on a passenger plane was much more comfortable than the trip going over on a bomber. The passenger plane carries a crew of eleven, including an attractive hostess who makes herself supplying the passengers with gum, magazines, and cigarettes. She also serves the meals which are very palatable. The sight of white rolls, real eggs, and other foods which they had not seen for over six weeks were longed for by the editors that they were getting near home.

The westward trip is always slower than the reverse direction as in coming west the plane is meeting head-on winds all the time. Therefore the journey which took nine and a half hours time going over took sixteen hours for the return trip. However, in the passenger plane there are berths so that it is possible to sleep for a good part of the way.

The trip is nearly all made above the clouds, but the passengers could not see the sunrise, which is usually a wonderful sight from a plane, as the sun was directly behind them.

One of the interesting sights from the plane is Prince Edward Island which is particularly beautiful from the air, and rivals the views over Ireland.

Early Saturday morning the Canadian editors were gently deposited at an Eastern Canadian Port, thus bringing to an end a trip such as has been made by few people and which will be remembered by them as long as they live.

In the letter of instructions which each editor received before leaving Canada, one sentence read, "You will be allowed to see things which few paper canisters are lightweight and avoid breakage and dish-washing problems. Be sure to remember that cold drinks and foods call for the waxed type of paper cup and container while hot foods require the unwaxed cup and container. Plan your lunch box menus the night before for day shift workers and at midday for the lobster shift, so you'll have plenty of time to plan appetizing, well-balanced meals."

Vegetable and fruit snacks are a good idea for the man who gets hungry as overtime drags on. Raw celery, carrots, green peppers or turnips, figs, dates and raisins are popular with munchers and are easy to eat on the job.

An inspiration for kitchen soldiers who pack lunches for hurry-up eaters is a "Fingers Before Forks Salad." The salad filling is put in a green paper shell and then packed in a covered, waxed paper container and chilled overnight. The dressing is packed separately in a small paper

THE MERCHANT THAT DID NOT ADVERTISE

There was a merchant who refused to advertise in his local newspaper, saying "nobody reads it," but who constantly secured handbills from some "wholesale" house, which were passed around and placed in the automobiles on the streets. When the merchant's daughter got married he went gleefully to the office of the newspaper with a long story about the wedding. The editor set up the type, printed it of 200 bills and sent a group of boys out with instructions to place them in automobiles standing on the street. The merchant who was subject to high blood pressure, is now thought to be convalescing in a hospital. —Exchange

ART IN WARTIME

"Does Art matter in wartime?" is one of those stock phrases which seasoned debaters are fond of starting. The answer—in London, at all events—is that quite apart from the Royal Academy and other recognized exhibitions which have continued to arouse interest since the war, there has been an unprecedented number of intimate exhibitions of work by amateurs, and many of the artists are people engaged in essential war work, particularly in the Civil Defence Services, such as the Auxiliary Fire Service, and the Air Raid Precautions Service. They have found their inspiration in the stuff and tempo of wartime life; though their subjects are by no means confined to wartime activities.

Hints for the Household

IMPORTANT JOB FOR KITCHEN SOLDIERS!

The all-out schedule of war production means that millions of workers will have to dispense with leisurely lunch hours and bear their share of overtime. But they can't do their full bit in the production battle unless they have the benefits of nourishing, high-energy, vitamin-rich food for the meal-on-the-job. Whether your family's war workers start out early in the morning or check in for the lobster shift, it's your prime responsibility as a kitchen soldier to see to it that they get at least one-third of the day's nutritional requirements during the eight hours or more they are at work.

It's winning strategy to pin on the kitchen wall the basic government recommendations for Victory lunch box menus which call for fish, meat or eggs, vegetables and fruit, milk and enriched or whole wheat bread every day. It's easy to pack the lunch box with substantial dinner table favorites of your war workers, such as soups, stews, meatloaf, salads and puddings, if you keep on hand a supply of inexpensive paper cups and containers, made of non-priority materials. Besides being sanitary, paper canisters are lightweight and avoid breakage and dish-washing problems. Be sure to remember that cold drinks and foods call for the waxed type of paper cup and container while hot foods require the unwaxed cup and container. Plan your lunch box menus the night before for day shift workers and at midday for the lobster shift, so you'll have plenty of time to plan appetizing, well-balanced meals.

Vegetable and fruit snacks are a good idea for the man who gets hungry as overtime drags on. Raw celery, carrots, green peppers or turnips, figs, dates and raisins are popular with munchers and are easy to eat on the job.

An inspiration for kitchen soldiers who pack lunches for hurry-up eaters is a "Fingers Before Forks Salad." The salad filling is put in a green paper shell and then packed in a covered, waxed paper container and chilled overnight. The dressing is packed separately in a small paper

Fingers-Before-Forks Green Pepper Salad

2 raw green pepper
Salad mixture of chopped apples, chopped cabbage, chopped celery and dressing.
Slice off green pepper about one inch from top; remove seeds and membranes. Fill with salad mixture. Have all ingredients cut fine. Replace cap, put pepper in waxed paper container; cover tightly, and chill overnight in refrigerator.

Apricot Brown Betty

14 cups enriched bread crumbs
1/4 cup melted butter
1 1/2 cups cooked apricots
1/8 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
Mix bread crumbs with butter. Put a layer of crumbs in baking dish. Add a layer of apricots, sprinkle with sugar, cinnamon and nutmeg. Repeat process until dish is full, finishing with a layer of crumbs. Bake 45 minutes in 375° oven. Cool. Pack in waxed paper container. Other fruits can be used in this recipe.

Chicken, Maryland Style

2 chickens
Flour
Salt and pepper
Bread crumbs
1 cup milk or cream
1/4 cup butter or other mild fat
2 eggs
Clean and disjoint young chickens, leaving the breasts whole. Put the necks and giblets in cold water, and simmer to obtain a cup of stock for the gravy. Sprinkle each piece of chicken with salt and pepper, dip in flour, beaten egg and soft crumbs and place in a greased pan. Bake in a hot oven (450° F.) from thirty to forty minutes basting frequently with one-fourth cup of fat melted in one-fourth cup of hot water.

When the chicken is done, make a gravy from the fat left in the pan, stirring in two tablespoons of flour, one cup of milk or cream and the cup of stock made from the giblets. If you like, add a few button mushrooms. Serve the chicken with the gravy poured around it.

Glazed or Candied Sweet Potatoes

8 sweet potatoes
Salt and pepper
Butter
1 cup brown or maple sugar
1/4 cup water
Boil the potatoes without paring them, and when tender drain and strip off the skins. Make a syrup by boiling together the sugar and water. Cut each potato in half or in thick slices, dip each piece into the syrup and lay it in a greased baking dish. Season with salt and pepper and bits of butter. When all the potato is in the dish, pour over it any syrup that remains and bake in a quick oven (400-450° F.) until the potatoes are brown.

SUGAR MINIMUM RECIPES

Are you searching for recipes from which you can prepare healthful, economical and tasty dishes for your war workers—without using too much precious sugar? Here are two. The first gives you a one-dish meal with one-teaspoon of sugar, while number two may be prepared "in a jiffy" and calls for but half a teaspoon. Cooked, dried Lima are procurable at your grocery store. Most of the other ingredients are usually in stock.

Lima Louisiana

(a one-dish meal)
2 cups cooked, dried Lima
1/2 lb. little pork sausages
2 tablespoons chopped onion
2 tablespoons shredded green pepper
1 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon mace
1 teaspoon salt
4 teaspoon poultry seasoning
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup milk
Parboil sausages 5 minutes. Combine Lima, sausages and seasonings. Place in an oiled baking dish. Pour over the Lima and scatter bits of butter and green pepper over the top. Bake in a moderate oven (350°) 25 minutes.

Lima with Cheese Sauce

2 cups cooked, dried Lima
4 teaspoon salt

1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1/4 teaspoon paprika
1/4 teaspoon sugar
1/4 teaspoon minced onion
1/2 cup shredded cheese
1/2 cup milk
Heat milk in top of double boiler. Add cheese and stir until melted. Combine Lima with seasonings, and add to the cheese mixture. Continue to cook until Lima are thoroughly heated. Serve at once with garnish of parsley.

Breaded Fillets of Cod

Use one package quick-frozen fillets of cod (frozen or thawed). Spread fillets with softened butter, and sprinkle with salt, pepper and paprika. Place on well-greased broiler and broil 15 to 25 minutes, turning to brown both sides. Serve 2-3.

Pears and Carrots

Drop 1 box (12 ounces) quick-frozen pears and carrots (frozen) into 1/4 cup briskly boiling salted water, bring again to a boil, and boil 5 to 7 minutes, or until just tender. Drain if necessary. Season with butter, salt, and pepper. Serve 4. (Use any liquid left after cooking for sauces, soup, or for other suitable dishes.)

HEALTH
by
A HEALTH SERVICE OF THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION AND LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES

A recent report from a correspondent in London, England, to the Canadian Medical Association Journal states that at the present time there are 1,400 "British Restaurants" in operation in Great Britain under the direction of Lord Woolton, Minister of Food. These restaurants serve 94 million meals per week.

The report goes on to say that the policy of these special establishments is to supply in one meal a third of the day's requirements of proteins and calories and two-thirds of the vitamins and mineral salts. One of the difficulties confronting the authorities in the achievement of this is the different groups of people to be supplied, varying from factory workers to school children. The former have their own canteens in many instances—7,500 factories now have canteens as compared with 1,250 before the war. The numbers of children taking dinners in school is now rapidly reaching the million mark and in an interesting recent survey an attempt has been made to find out what children think about school meals by making this the subject of an ordinary school essay.

Plans are in operation, it is stated, to ensure the careful management of this valuable new development in communal feeding in its early stage in order that it may result in the success it deserves to be.

Department of Labour National War Labour Board GENERAL ORDER

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics has found that the cost of living index number for October 1, 1942, is 117.8 (adjusted index 116.9) as compared with the cost of living index number for July 2, 1942, of 117.9 (adjusted index 117).

The Wartime Wages Control Order, P. C. 5963, provides in Section 48 (iv):

"the amount of the bonus shall not be changed unless the cost of living index number has changed one whole point or more since the last general order of the Board requiring an increase or decrease in the amount thereof."

The index number not having changed by one whole point or more since July 2, 1942, pursuant to the provisions of P. C. 5963 as stated, the National War Labour Board orders that the terms of its General Order dated August 4, 1942, shall continue to apply for the period November 15, 1942, to February 15, 1943, subject to the right of employers or employees to apply to a War Labour Board for authorization of payment of such an amount of cost of living bonus as a Board may determine to be "fair and reasonable," under the provisions of the Order.

A Veteran at 20!

Back from scores of bombing raids over a dozen countries, this young airman has found adventure in the skies! Just out of his 'teens, an eager youth in years, he's a veteran in experience. He's a first-line fighting man, trained in the science of war at 5-miles-a-minute!

He and his buddies in R.C.A.F. air crew are team-mates. Gunner, Wireless Operator, Bomber, Pilot, Navigator—all work together as a smooth, swift "attack team" in a giant bomber. Their targets accurately surveyed in advance by daring reconnaissance pilots—their flight protected by the blazing guns of fighter planes—the bombers wing their relentless way to smash Nazi nerve-centres.

The expanded Air Training Plan has room for more men who want to be with these fighting comrades of the skies. Right now applications are being accepted for air crew duty, at R.C.A.F. Recruiting Centres throughout Canada.

If you are physically fit, mentally alert, over 17½, and not yet 33, you are eligible. If you are over 33, but have exceptional qualifications, you may still be considered. Lack of formal education is no longer a bar to enlistment.

WOMEN TOO—Join "hot men" may be. Canadian women fill vital jobs in the R.C.A.F. Women's Division, re-bounding men for air crew duties. Recruits are needed, age 18 to 42, physically fit, with at least High School education. Many useful and fascinating jobs await you. No experience needed. The Air Force will train you quickly to take your place with Canada's airwomen. Full information at any R.C.A.F. Recruiting Centre, or write address below for booklet.

World of Wheat

H. G. L. Strange,
Director, Research Department,
Searle Grain Company, Ltd.

Director "The Crop Testing Plan" The "Crop Testing Plan" has just finished the analysis of its summer's work in which 12,000 samples, each representing a farmer's field, were analyzed for impurities to variety. A very considerable improvement in the trueness-to-variety of prairie wheat crops is shown, and in subsequent articles further details will be given. This present report deals with "Mixtures" alone.

In 1931, the first of the "Crop Testing Plan", no less than 34% of all wheat crops tested consisted of had "Mixtures" of old-fashioned discarded varieties which yielded poorly, and were of low milling and baking value. By 1936 these crops consisting of "Mixtures" had dropped to 52.9 percent and this last year they had fallen to 11.3 percent. This is a fine improvement and definitely shows that the Canadian wheat crop, in general, is now made up of a higher percentage of good milling and baking varieties than ever has been in the past. The 11.3 percent of crops consisting of "Mixtures" still remaining, however, can and should be eliminated altogether. Next week the "Crop Testing Plan" will publish a map which will show the distribution of these bad "Mixtures". This will indicate the districts where particular work needs to be done to persuade farmers to use better seed of up-to-date recommended varieties.

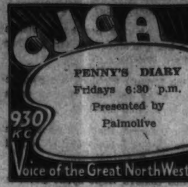

Following factors have tended to decrease supply and increase demand—Unfavorable weather conditions and labor shortages have reduced North Africa's wheat crop from 80 million bushels last year to 65 million—Due to decreased production the Middle East has begun importing wheat—Germany's bread grain crop for 1942 is only about two thirds of normal.

Following factors have tended to increase supply and decrease demand—Italy's bread grain production is reported to be better than in 1941—Ireland's 1942 wheat crop is expected to yield 22 million bushels, an all time record—The Polish grain harvest for this year has been estimated to be the largest since the beginning of the war.

The W.A. of the United church will hold their annual bazaar and sale of home cooking in the I.O.O.F. Hall, on the afternoon of Saturday, December 6th, at 3 o'clock. Afternoon tea will also be served. Everyone invited.

A Military Whist party will be held tomorrow Thursday night in the I.O.O.F. Hall under the auspices of the Rebekah Lodge. Cards will start at 9 p.m. and a good time is assured. Lunch will be served. Good prizes. Admission 35 cents each.

The Catholic W.A. are sponsoring a dance in the S.S. Auditorium on Wednesday next, Nov. 25th, with dancing from 10.00 p.m. to 2.30. All are invited and the Kent and Glass orchestras will ensure a real good time.

A welcome visitor to town last week was Mr. Vern G. Graham, whom the old-timers will remember as among the first comers to the new town of Wainwright many years ago. He was enroute to visit relatives in the Western States, and spent many a pleasant hour during his stay here, in reminiscing of "the good old days".

Mr. Harold Horsley, a one-time resident here, spent a couple of days in town last week before returning to his home in Edmonton.

Among the auction sales which George Reynolds has dated up are the sale of the White farm effects at Greenhills for Nov. 18th, the J. Wilkinson farm sale on the 19th, and the Geo. Babb estate sale on the 24th.

The past week has seen two more shipments in the armed forces from this district, these being E. S. Smudberg, of Paradise Valley and W. G. H. Brewster, of Edgerton. The latter joined the armed force school department at Fort Knox, Kentucky, U.S.

Cliff Reynolds of the R.C.A.F. has now reached his new air-force quarters in the east according to word received.

Following a ten day illness, baby Roberta Anna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Sutherland, passed away last Tuesday. The funeral was held yesterday (Tuesday), McClellan's funeral parlors being in charge.

Misses M. and G. Brunner were in Edmonton over the week end visiting relatives there.

Henry E. Spencer, of Edgerton, who is chairman of the big school division board here, was elected vice-president of the Alberta School Trustees association at their annual convention in Edmonton last week.

We are informed that Joe Whittle is getting along nicely following his recent operation in a city hospital.

Bob Lilly of the R.C.A.F. spent last week end with his parents in town.

Larger Egg Production Benefits Soon Evident

OTTAWA—Food supply officials say that while egg supplies may be limited in some areas it is believed Canada is "over the hump" for this year and that the benefits of enlarged production soon will be evident.

"An increase in production of from 20 to 30 per cent over last year is expected in the coming winter months," one official said.

"If that production is obtained, it appears that domestic and export requirements will be met. Already there are signs that the egg situation generally is improving and it would not need much of an increase in shipments to bring conditions back to normal."

No one who is forward-looking is content with present conditions.

Equality of opportunity and equality of privilege may be considered as basic principles in our democratic system, but it does not necessarily follow that there are not marked differences of capacity for leadership and service.

Use of Railway Passes Suspended for Holidays

Montreal.—The wartime conditions have made it necessary for the Canadian railways to suspend the use of all passes during the Christmas and New Year holiday period. It was announced at headquarters of the Canadian National Railway here today.

In view of the increasingly heavy demands that will be made upon the resources of the Canadian railways in the handling of the armed forces, the announcement states, the management of the two railways find it necessary to suspend the use of all free and half-rate transportation from Monday, December 21, 1942 to Tuesday, January 5th, 1943, both dates inclusive. This suspension is equally applicable over all lines and on all trains of both companies and their subsidiaries.

Banks Must Curtail By More Closings

MONTREAL.—Canadian banks will have to share in restriction of wartime civilian activity by closing more branches and curtailing or suspending certain services over the next few months, it was forecast today by Charles St. Pierre, president of the Canadian Bankers' Association, at its annual meeting.

Despite the tremendously increased demand for banking services to serve the armed forces, industry and the public, the elimination of branches would be intended "in keeping with the greater concentration necessary for victory," Mr. St. Pierre declared.

"This step reflects the views of the authorities at Ottawa and must be taken by banks as part of their share in the curtailment of normal activities being experienced by business generally."
